What is the mission of New York Harbor School?

Our mission is to use New York's maritime experience to support a rigorous, college-preparatory curriculum that instills in our students the skills and ethic of stewardship.

What do students learn at Harbor School?

Maritime means "of or related to the sea." We use New York Harbor as our laboratory for learning the skills and content needed for going to college! We swim, row, sail, navigate, and study the waters of New York while preparing to go to college.

Who applies to Harbor School?

Eighth graders who have special interests or aptitudes in marine science, marine technology, marine policy, or anything related to water; and who are willing to work hard and try new things!

Who works at Harbor School?

Teachers who deeply believe that all students can succeed, that New York City youth have the right to access New York Harbor, and that the marine environment is an ideal place to teach students academic and social skills.

Who supports Harbor School?

Individuals, businesses and organizations that care about innovative public education and our city's rich maritime history.

How do I apply to Harbor School ?

If you are interested in attending New York Harbor School, you should:

- Have listed The Urban Assembly New York Harbor School (02M551 in the H.S. Book) as one of your top high school choices on your preference form;
- Have visited the Harbor School on Governors Island and submitted your name and information.

* The Harbor School is a limited unscreened school. The higher on your High School choice form you rank us, the better your chances of being placed in our school.

Following is a sample program of our four year, maritime-focused, college prep curriculum:
